FOREWORD

The Battle of the Ages has been fought, not in the sunny sands of Africa but amidst the icy and heavily populated District of Confusion. This battle has been to make this list a complete hand-book on the activities of the Army Air Forces. The efforts have been to clarify the existing confusions; by - First, preparing a complete CROSS REFERENCE of names for the various stations; Second, the preparation of a SECTION BY COMMANDS, showing the uses of each installation; and Third, completing a Master Section, arranged by STATIONS BY STATES, listing detailed data and information - which it is hoped will be of assistance to the swivel-chair pilots throughout the Army Air Forces.

In the lower left corner of this page can be found the ARMY AIR FORCES STATION LIST of JULY, 1941. In comparing these activities with those now in existence which, it is hoped, can be found in this publication with the exception of those installations, acquisitions, and changes wrought about since the start of this Station List, it is easy to understand the efforts put forth in this publication and gives impetus for solicitation of the assistance from all divisions of the Air Forces. The form and content will serve to illustrate the information as desired on all activities and each user can assist in perfecting the publication by calling or sending to this office any changes, additions, omissions, or errors.

CONTENTS

The contents of this publication is as complete as the available information. Efforts were made to complete the following:

A: CROSS REFERENCE - Pages 1 - 18.

COLUMN 1 - was designed to list a note to describe the first listing. For example: (N - if the official name is first listed, etc.). This would not permit the completion of this portion of the reference section and such information can easily be obtained from the other sections of the list.

COLUMN 2 - Cross Reference - is a list of field names with references to cities - post office locations and other familiar names. The listed state name will serve as a reference to the proper division of (Section by States) pages 29 - 49. The stations given an official name by the Naming Board and nationally known municipal airports are listed in caps. The suggested names are listed in lower case.

COLUMN 3 - Types and Activity - Details can be obtained in the Section by Commands or Section by States.

COLUMN 4 - Jurisdiction - The listing of jurisdiction will serve as a reference to (Stations by Commands) pages 19 - 28.

NOTE: Each line lists the type, activity, and jurisdiction for all references. This section does not indicate that each line is a separate activity.

B: STATIONS BY COMMANDS - Pages 19 - 28. DIRECTION: Read right by the segregation. The stations are listed in the order of their operation within their respective Activities. The official names are listed in caps and the suggested names are either in lower case or followed with (A.A.F.). The cities listed are the post office as per the best information available in the Headquarters office. The mileage and directions for auxiliary fields are from the main base.

NOTE: See REQUESTS for the desired information to complete this Section for each of the Commands, Training Centers, and most recent stations of Technical Training.

C: STATIONS BY STATES - Pages 29 - 49. (One listing for each activity). The cities listed in Column 1 are the ones to be used as the latest information on the best post office address for the station within each respective state. The listings of station names follow the same as previously described in other sections of this list. The Location, Miles, Direction, and Class of Runways was obtained from the C.A.A. List of December 1, 1942, and the latest publications received from the Flying Training Centers. The freight addresses were obtained from the Air Service Command's Directory of December 5 and the latest list received from the Training Centers - (1) For shipment less than carload - and (2) For shipment of carload lots. The Class of Housing and whether or not occupied was obtained from the January 1 reports to this division on the Authorized Housing Facilities and the stations to be activated within 10 days.

NOTE: The Government has established main post offices at a great number of fields which will expedite delivery of mail to these sites. This has necessitated numerous changes in alphabetical order of listing cities by the new post office names.
